As to 61d Ages.

Thomas Parr and Henry Jenkins are respectively credited with the ages of 152 and 169. Jeanne Serimphan was married when she was 127 and died when she was 128. Dr. Dufournel married at 116 and became the father of two children and died at 120. Marie Priou reached the age of 158. A woman of Metz, the mother of twenty-four children, died at the age of 100. Sur-geon Politman celebrated his one hundred and fortieth birthday. Patrick O'Neil buried seven wives and died at 120, and a Norwegian peasant is re-corded as dying at 160 and leaving two sons, one aged 108 and the other only nine summers. Mr. Robert Taylor lived to be 134 and died of excitement on receiving the picture of Queen Victoria signed by herself. An Irishman named Brown, who was a habitual drunk-ard, lived to be 120. A French drunk-ard lived to be 112. He had a daily debauch for ninety years. Durand d'Eti-vel of Cahors lived to be 128. A woman of 124 drank strong coffee in great quantities all her days, while a man of 114 lived on fruit, chiefly melons, and chewed lemon peel.-Portland Orego-

Was Solomon a Pingiarist? Two thousand five hundred years before King Solomon made an alliance with Pharaoh and 3,500 years before the birth of Christ there lived in Egypt a prefect, Ptah-ho-tep by name, who was a collector of moral maxims which were even then boary with antiquity. These gems of proverbial wisdom strikingly like those of the wise Hebrew monarch, although it must be admitted they received additional luster from his hand. These are samples of the Egyptian maxims, as translated in the Literary Digest:

"Be not proud of your wisdom, but speak to the ignorant man as you do to the learned."

"If you must deal with an antagonist while he is in anger and he is more powerful than you, then bend your which is never used? There is purpose in this. It represents to the wild beast the terrors of the unknown. He has experienced the sharp, stinging flick of the whip in the tamer's right hand, but for the life of him he cannot imagine what anguish lurks in that mysterious whip in the other hand, which is never Many a tamer has saved his life in a critical moment by just lifting that unknown terror above a crouching, growling, fury maddened tiger.

A Medical Decision In 1715.

In 1715 a cellar digger having been stifled at Jena, the medical faculty of the university decided that the cause was not the direct action of the devil, but a deadly gas. Thereupon Professor Loescher of the University of Wittenberg entered a solemn protest, declaring that the decision of the medical faculty was "only a proof of the lamentable license which has so taken possession of us, and which if we are not earnestly on our guard will finally turn away from us the blessing of God."

Patience and Patients.
"You have not taken the medicine I left," asked the physician with some anger. "I declare such actions as that simply make me lose my patience!" "Well, doctor," meekly smiled the suffering one, "I was afraid if I continued to take your medicine you would lose another of your patients."

Realizing that the case was hopeless, the physician left the house.

Ran a Ten Penny Nail Through His Hand.

While opening a box, J. C. Mount, of Three Mile Bay, N. Y., ran a ten penny nail through the fleshy part of his hand. "I thought at once of all the pain and soreness this would cause me," he says, "and immediately applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm and occasionally afterwards. Pain Balm and occasionally afterwards. To my surprise it removed all pain and soreness and the injured parts were soon healed." For sale by Richard Gibson,
